You can download Photoshop and other training programs from the Adobe website at `www.adobe.com`. Become familiar with the basic tools that are required to effectively edit a digital image. Master the fundamental editing tools, like the Move tool, so that you can manipulate your images with ease. ## Basic Editing Techniques During image editing, you need the following basic tools: * A _selection tool_ to mark and isolate a specific area in an image * The _rectangle tool_ to create a shape * The _eraser tool_ to remove shapes from an image * The _move tool_ to edit the pixels of an image * The _lasso tool_ to shape the edges of an image * The _brush tool_ to paint and sculpt the image You use more advanced tools, such as the Magic Wand, Gradient Fill, and Healing Brushes, along with others, depending on the specific effect you're looking for in your image. In this section, I explain how to select an area and make selections in an image. I cover how to create shapes with the Rectangle and Ellipse tools and how to remove them with the Eraser tool. I explain how to shape the edges with the Lasso tool, and I introduce the freehand tool, the Brush tool, and the Clone Stamp tool. ## Selecting and Deselecting Areas in an Image Selections allow you to draw around an area. Areas that have been selected are usually different colors in the image — some RGB values may be 255 for light red, some RGB 255 for dark red, and so on. With Photoshop, you select areas in two ways: * Using the direct selection tool: Use the Direct Selection tool, discussed in the upcoming section "Selecting with the Direct Selection tool," to select the area you want to edit. * Using the Eyedropper: Using the Eyedropper tool, discussed in the next section, "Using the Eyedropper tool to select areas," you can choose an area of any color in the image. When you are finished with a selection, you can deselect the area using the Select By Color option at the bottom of the Select tool. If you need to hide a selection, deselect the area using the Select tool. ## Choosing Colors with the Eyedropper Tool ok so seriously does anyone know the difference between a 17 and a 18 I really want the 18 but its REALLY CHEAP so I get it for $99. And I got a good deal on the krells aunty filters for around $120 is it a great deal or should I keep it? I really would rather get the 17 because I get the aunty filters for only $185, is that worth it? I'm not picky to much, I just dont want to get a bag that is going to die Ok, so I got both a 17 and a 18 and I'm so confused. What's the difference? I'm looking for a bag with like, two or three handles, multiple compartments, like a block that fits in the back pouch and a slot to put my ipod. Like all the standard bags but more durable. Basically, I want a normal bag but I don't want to get ripped off because the 18 is so cheap. Ok, so I got both a 17 and a 18 and I'm so confused. What's the difference? Basically, I want a normal bag but I don't want to get ripped off because the 18 is so cheap. Click to expand... i'm definitely confused. the difference is the size, the 18 is bigger. the 18 has more compartments, the 17 doesn't. the 18 is also more durable, although really the first thing you'll notice about the 17 is that it is a half-size smaller than an 18. your best bet is to go to a place that sells backpacks and just try them on. the 17 is a smaller bag. so you can get a kid's 17 and get a larger backpack. I have an 18 and an 18 II. I carry it in my backpack, I love them both equally. It's a matter of personal taste. Click to expand... I too have an 18 and a 18 II. I also have a kwack: and it's the exact same. It's got the same weight, size and everything. The only difference is the bag it
