* _Adobe Illustrator:_ Illustrator enables you to draw digital illustrations and can also create cartoons, graphs, and web graphics. Adobe Illustrator has a more "clean" user interface than Photoshop, which is what is usually preferred for the home PC user. To draw an illustration, you first have to create a shape called a path. Shapes that you create can be filled, stroked, or dashed or dotted. The path can be straight, curved, or irregular, and you can then add images, type, and shapes to the path to create a finished illustration (Figure 2-4). Figure 2-4: Begin by drawing a path with the pencil tool. Illustrator was introduced in 2001. It had a slow start, but has grown into a widely used design tool today. * _Adobe Indesign:_ Indesign is a page layout, creation, and design tool for creating and designing print, display, and Web documents. * _Adobe Fireworks:_ Fireworks is a simple page layout, creation, and design tool for creating print, display, and Web documents. After the user creates the pages and their content, he or she can save the project to an Adobe PDF file. These files are portable documents that enable the user to print to PDF printers from anywhere without a computer.

Layers allow you to work on several parts of an image at the same time. Each layer has its own color and transparency settings. By using the Layers panel, you can modify the color and transparency settings of multiple images at once. The Emboss tool adds texture and three-dimensional depth to an image. The Marquee tool allows you to easily create selection areas, also known as paths. Magic Wand and Heuristic Selection are two features that find hard-to-see elements in images, such as faces, and automatically select the pixels, or parts of the image, to reveal. The Paths tool allows you to create closed paths. Photoshop allows you to manipulate paths like any other object using the Selection and Modify tools, and the Paths panel. The Type tool lets you easily create, modify, insert, and edit text. The Pen Tool lets you create a selection that can be modified using the Pen Tool. The Rectangular Marquee tool lets you create an exact or freehand selection. The Shadow/Highlight tool lets you improve the contrast and add shadow and highlights to an image. The Spot Healing Brush tool allows you to repair images that contain unreadable pixels, called blindspots. You can quickly restore a portion of an image that contains lost data. The Gradient tool lets you add color gradients to text and images. The Gradient Adjust tool lets you colorize an image with a color gradient. The Crop tool can be used to crop images to a specific aspect ratio. The Channels panel lets you edit a color or colorize an image. The Filter tool lets you apply filter effects to images. The Adjustment layers allow you to tweak the colors and settings of your images. The Reverse Grid tool can be used to reduce the size of objects without making them lose details. The Warp tool lets you distort an image. The Gradient Map tool allows you to create a gradient that mimics the gradient of an image. The Histogram tool lets you adjust the exposure of an image. The Composite tool lets you apply multiple editing effects to an image. The Levels tool lets you adjust the contrast, brightness, and color of an image. The Dodge/Burn tool lets you adjust the contrast and colors of an image. The Vibrance tool modifies the brightness and saturation of an image. The Topaz Glow tool lets you add a subtle glow to an image. The Adjustment

Greetings fellow robloers! I have gone through several starter pack packs and have found them to be quite useful, but after some thought I have come to the conclusion that I don't need a pack that meets all my specific needs. I'm actually looking for suggestions on the more general way to pack for a round trip from Houston to London. I believe that I've reached the point where I could carry everything in my pack in order to meet my needs. I am definitely lacking a carrying system. What is the "general" rule of thumb for packing light for round trips? It is difficult to describe the items I need, but I'll list the ones that come to mind first. 1) I have a pack that would be small enough to fit in a king-size bed. 2) Electronics would include camera, camcorder, cd player, etc. 3) A book is a must. I have two that I've carried for two weeks at a time. 4) Pencils, pens, and pads of paper. 5) A tote bag or mat to carry the day's bag. 6) Wipes and hand cream for the trip home. 7) Butane stove, pot, and fuel can. 8) Drill 9) Lights, flashlights, and batteries. 10) A towel. I like the ones at hotels that fit in the shower. 11) Clothes: I always wear shorts, a shirt or t-shirt, shorts, and t-shirt, socks, undies. 12) Camera bag and lens 13) Any other items you would recommend. Also, I have been working on the system for going home. I'm always
